

Small Direction Signs

- Good readability
- Easy to install
- Easy to supplement extra signs
- Possible to have different versions

Description

In the Netherlands we have many small direction signs, which indicate which route to be followed. These signs are unlit and clearly visible to road users because they are applied with retroreflective foil. The small direction signs are available in a small and a large version. Depending on the speed limit that a certain road has, you can opt for either the small or large variant. These signs are usually placed on roads with an unlocking function. Moreover, they are usually used at intersections where no connection to a power supply for an enlightened road sign is possible.
